Dear {{Recipient.FirstName}},

Exciting news from HousingPlus!

We are pleased to announce that HousingPlus' two U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) funded programs received the two highest rankings, city-wide, on this year's NYC Continuum of Care (NYC CoC) annual performance evaluation. Overseen by Joyce Kelly, Vice President of Tenant Services, and under the guidance and supervision of our program managers, Jade Lee and Dr. Simone Hinds, these two programs, which serve 115 households, demonstrate the success and importance of our "housing first" model.

Our scores of 99.5% and 98.1% are the two highest-scoring supportive housing programs in NYC out of a total of 163!

In reflecting on our rating, Martha Kenton, Executive Director of the NYC CoC stated:

The NYC CoC is delighted that two HousingPlus HUD Continuum of Care Program-funded projects are successfully serving their participants with the highest quality of services. In the most recent NYC CoC Annual Evaluation, their near-perfect scores demonstrate that HousingPlus is an example to their permanent supportive housing peers of what it means to serve our most vulnerable New York City neighbors.

Thanks to our dedicated and motivated program staff, HousingPlus received this recognition. We know our work provides more than a safe, stable home; it also changes lives. We provide the highest quality services to our tenants and their families, meeting their needs in real time.

When you support HousingPlus, you provide a woman, child, and family opportunities to realize goals.

We are honored to be a recognized leader in NYC's supportive housing space. We hope you will celebrate our achievement with your gift today. Thank you for supporting HousingPlus.

With gratitude,

¹ Each year, HUD releases its new notice of funding opportunity detailing the requirements for applying for Continuum of Care (CoC) program funding, which HousingPlus receives. One of the requirements is the completion of an annual performance evaluation through the NYC CoC for all current HUD CoC-funded programs. Evaluations are used in considering future funding to organizations, such as HousingPlus.
